For their kind and ongoing assistance, I would also like to thank the collection staff members: Mary LeBlanc, Leon Miller, Courtney Page, Carol Hampshire, Kenneth Owen, Ann Case, Dr. Joan Caldwell, and Dr. Robert Sherer.

At the Louisiana State Museum I would like to thank director James F. Sefcik for his cooperation, and to acknowledge the patient assistance of Wayne Phillips, curator of Carnival, and Shannon Glasheen, acting registrar. I am grateful to Priscilla Lawrence, director of The Historic New Orleans Collection, to curator John Magill, and to photographer Jan Brantley for their help. I would like to thank Collin Hamer and Wayne Eberhard of the Louisiana Collection at the New Orleans Public Library for permission to use the Cornelius Durkee photograph. I would also like to thank Philip Biondillo, Jr., Arthur Hardy, Sidney Hebert, and Blaine Kern for their generosity with their collections.

In the production of this book I would like to acknowledge Owen Murphy's photography and Rene Vicedomini's scans at Orleans Colour. John Kelly's research assistance was invaluable, as was Jon Newlin's work on the index. At Pelican Publishing, I would like to acknowledge Dr. Milburn Calhoun's ongoing enthusiasm for this series of Mardi Gras Treasures. It has remained a pleasure to work with editor Nina Kooij, designer Tracey Clements, secretary Sally Boitnott, and typesetter Gwynn Harris.
