Why the Crawfish Lives in the Mud

Soundscape

By Johnette Downing

Having trouble getting your children to read? How about using some musical instruments to create a soundscape for books? Select any children's book you would like your children to read and then assign a musical instrument for each character in the book. Weather, nature, sound words and other environmental factors offer great opportunities to create sound effects. Here is an example using my book Why the Crawfish Lives in the Mud:

Characters	Musical Instrument Assignment
Crawfish	Rhythm sticks
Crab	Wood block
Fish	Maracas

Environment	Musical Instrument Assignment
Mud	Guiro or washboard
Bayou	Bells

Repetitive Sound Words	Musical instrument Assignment
Hot	Tambourine
Small	Triangle
Big	Drum
Loud	all of the instruments in unison

Instructions:

1. Assign the musical instruments to these specific words in the book.
2. Demonstrate the proper way to play each musical instrument.
3. Pass out the assigned musical instruments to the children; one instrument per child is recommended.
4. Slowly read the book aloud to the children, allowing them time to hear and react to the trigger words for their instruments.
5. The children will listen with purpose to the book and will play their instrument once each time their trigger word is spoken throughout the book.
6. Enjoy!

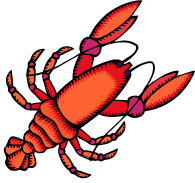

Adding musical instruments to reading will not only enhance the enjoyment of the experience of reading, but will also engage the children in reading in a positive way. Reading becomes a multi-sensory, participatory experience.

Pin the Crawfish on the Pot

By The Early Childhood Teachers
Academy of Sacred Heart, New Orleans, LA USA

1. Cut out of construction paper an image of a large gumbo pot (or use clip art).
2. Cut out of construction paper an image of a crawfish. You can use the one on the next page. You'll need one for each student in the class.
3. Affix the gumbo pot to a bulletin board.
4. Taking turns, each child is blind-folded and tries to pin or tape the crawfish on the pot.
5. Play the "pin the tail on the donkey" game the usual way, but use the crawfish and the pot.

WHY THE CRAWFISH LIVES IN THE MUD

Written and Illustrated by Johnette Downing

A long time ago, when Crab and Crawfish were still best friends, Crawfish was feeling particularly lazy—and particularly hungry—as he loafed around the muggy bayou. When Crab arrived with a fish, Crawfish took one listen to his empty belly and decided to trick his good-natured friend.

After Crab realizes Crawfish has made a fool of him again, he isn't happy, and before he knows it, Crawfish gets exactly what he deserves. A charming tale cautioning children about the consequences of cheating your friends, this colorful picture book from the critically acclaimed Johnette Downing will delight readers of all ages with its timeless and gentle lesson about integrity.

Lively collage-style illustrations, a glossary of Cajun words and phrases, including entries such as “cher” (dear or friend) and “beaucoup” (much), and a list of crawfish “fun facts” make this book an irresistible read.
